

December 15, 2023

Municipality of Kincardine
Attn: Jennifer Lawrie, Clerk

Re: 707 Queen St., Kincardine

The Nuclear Innovation Institute (NII) has been in conversation with senior management staff at the Municipality of Kincardine with regards to 707 Queen St., Kincardine. There have been several conversations regarding the space, the state of the building and potential for partnership.

On December 14, 2023, NII staff advised senior management NII/NII Explore will not be pursuing a partnership with Kincardine as it relates to 707 Queen St. Although the opportunity is exciting and the organization sees potential, the initiative does not align with strategic priorities and corporate goals at this time.

NII is excited to have purchased 117 Farrell Drive in the Municipality of Kincardine and the organization looks forward to offering programming for the community and the region from this space. NII Advance Technology Campus will be the first-in-the-region innovation and education centre that serves as a sandbox for collaboration and professional development.

If you have questions or would like to discuss further, please contact NII President and CEO, Bruce Wallace. Bruce would be happy to have further conversation with staff or members of Council regarding the decision.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Bruce Wallace".

Bruce Wallace
President and CEO

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Jessica Linthorne".

Jessica Linthorne
Chief Operating Officer